Issue Number 27

Continuing the Learning Journey!!

The children are thoroughly enjoying being superheroes in a new role play area. They have designed their own superhero and written about what super powers they would like to have.

I have incubated 7 bantam chicken eggs and they should be hatching next week (fingers crossed!). I will be bringing in the incubator and the eggs or the new chicks on Tuesday.

This week's learning highlights:

- The children have been learning how to tell the time and they made their very own clocks.
- The children have been caring for our plants outside by watering them and weeding the area.
- In PE we practised our superhero moves on the apparatus.

Focus on Learning

Our new learning topic is 'Goodies and Baddies'. Please link this if possible to 'show and tell'. Action figures ARE allowed 😊

This half term the Ongar value is 'patience'.
