

YEAR 1 WEEKLY LEARNING

The Dahlicious Dress Up Day

Ongar Place Primary School, Addlestone, Surrey 01932 842785

3rd March 2017

We've had a fabulous week learning about Roald Dahl and why reading is something to be loved! Thursday bought us many surprises, including the red carpet...

Our Learning Journey

In literacy this week we have been learning about The Enormous Crocodile. We realise that although stories can initially appear dramatic and scary, there are often lessons to be learnt. The Enormous Crocodile didn't get to catch his dinner after all...

We've discussed animals we know, and we also realise that some are nocturnal. We've spent some time linking this to our World Book Day learning; crocodiles and camouflage. Check out our Dahliciously camouflaged door...

We've practiced different art techniques this week, we particularly enjoyed creating crocodiles with pegs, weaving and fans...

Star learner this week is...

Cooper!

You've shown great patience for your friends this week. You set an example to us all of how to be tolerant of one another!

Well done Cooper!

Reminders

Thank you for your help!

Thank you for sparing time to come in to read with the children on World Book Day

Home learning

Back to normal schedule: out on Friday and back for Monday

Tea Party:

On the last Thursday of term we will be holding a tea party from 3pm. Due to space restrictions children have been encouraged to invite just one special person; we apologise we cannot fit more of you in the classroom! Over the next few weeks children will be planning and making the menus and invites, so keep your eyes peeled.

Many thanks,
Mrs MacCormack
