We've had a technology-packed week this week... our learning about Royals has begun, and we've become avid researchers!

Our Learning Journey

We began our week spending time researching The Royal Family using our wonderful selection of library books. We then searched on Google to find the answers to some of our questions...

We spent time exploring and comparing the differences between laptops and I-pads. We know how a mouse on a laptop works and guides us to websites, and we know that I-pads are useful for using with apps. We loved the digital whiteboard to practice our writing on. We also know how important it is to keep technology updated, and saw a few first hand examples of the problems we can encounter!

We have finally completed our cress diaries! We are so proud of our fully-grown cress and we enjoyed tasting the final product: Some thought it was crunchy, some thought minty, and some thought hot like chilli!

Star learner this week is...

Maya!

You have shown amazing patience this week in yourself and with others. As a result your learning has been fantastic AND you have a lovely group of friends! You have shown us all how being patient can help us in different ways.

Well done Maya!

Reminders

No notices this week!

*Many thanks,
