16th December 2016

Welcome back! We've had a fabulous week back and have really enjoyed catching up and sharing holiday news with each other.

Our Learning Journey

We've spent some time thinking about our new value: Appreciation. We have reflected, shared and written lists about what we've achieved in the last year and appreciated those who've helped us out along the way.

We've also thought about our bodies and our health and how to appreciate these. We know some people aren't so lucky. We gave being 'foot artists' a go, and now we really appreciate how hard art is for those who are disabled...

We've had the video cameras out and have been interviewing each other for our new Cedar newsdesk. Soon we will be able to predict and report the weather to you too!

Mrs. MacCormack was very impressed with our time-telling. We are getting to grips with o'clock and half past, next some of us will move on to a quarter past and a quarter to, as well as digital clocks. We can't wait. We have even made our own...

This term will be learning all about the weather and animals; so anything we learn at home about these topics would be great to support us in school.

Star learner this week is...

Oliver!

You've been great at overcoming challenges this week, particularly your writing. Initially you were a little nervous but then wrote a full page!

Well done Oliver!
