Our Learning Journey

We have had a good week and are pleased with the progress in puppet making. Some of us have used mod-roc for our heads and marionette parts. We have cut out the dress for our glove puppets and begun sewing it together.

Mrs Matchett dresses for mod – roc work!!!

We have used our spoon puppets to create stories and have been able to do this outside but this week has been too wet.

We have learnt about reflection and enjoyed using mirrors to see round corners!! We were sad that our day for shadow learning was so wet!!

We are becoming more proficient in using speech in our dialogue and demonstrated this using a funny myth called, “The man who cut down trees.”

Guess Who?

Focus on Learning

Next week:

We will be considering how quests are an integral part of a myth.

We will be hoping for a sunny day to carry out our shadow investigation.

We will be grouping information about the Celts and the Romans and giving reasons for our decisions

Star Learner

Well done to Adam who has been immersed in his learning this week. He has created his glove puppet and almost sewed it together. He has described regular and irregular 2D shape with accuracy. He has been writing description and recording facts about Romans too. He has had a very busy week.

Reminders to Families

Please continue to encourage your child to place their reading book and reading record into the box as they are checked every day.

We are looking for some adult help to clear an area outside our classroom so we can use it in the summer. If you could help, please let the office or Miss Wells know. Thank you.
