This Week...

Within English this week we have reviewed the punctuation of direct speech and developed our abilities to 'write pictures' by using expanded noun phrases. We have tried to put these together to write our autobiography.

During Maths we have reviewed the use of different methods of addition and subtraction. We have focused upon the column addition method and used it to add amounts of money.

In Geography this week we used the internet to find the location of sites in Paris and drew a tourist map of the city.

At the end of last week we sketched and watercoloured our final art pieces for 'People in Action'. All of us are now much better at drawing people

We have come to the end of our topic in Science and finished this learning with a review of properties of materials and how these affect how we use materials.

Ambassadors of the Week

Ollie — for really taking part in French conversation.

Luis — for showing an excellent use of scientific vocabulary when describing properties.
