This Week...

This week in English we have started to investigate biographies and autobiographies. We have found out about the features of this genre. We have reviewed our understanding of writing dialogue and even acted. We have also revisited complex sentences and reminded ourselves of subordinate clauses.

During Maths we have continued to explore different methods of addition and subtraction and begun to consider when one method might be 'better' than another. We have applied this to solving problems.

In PE, we have continued to learn hockey skills. We have tried to put these into small game situations.

As scientists, with Mr Good we researched the water cycle. We had the task to create a short Powerpoint that described and explained the processes involved.

This term the value is RESPONSIBILITY.

Ambassadors of the Week

Phoebe—for successfully using counting on to solve subtraction problems.

Faye S - for showing greater confidence when speaking French

Information for Families
