This Week....

Coming back after the disappointment of missing the trip and the weather we have been hard at work. We have started a new unit of learning in English – Performance Poetry. We have watched and listened to performances to try and identify effective techniques. We have written a new verse for a poem by replicating the style and tried to perform it effectively.

In Maths we have really got hold of fractions, We have been solving problems by adding, subtracting and multiplying. It has been quite intensive but there is light at the end of the tunnel.

We have learned about a major naturalist and used our report writing skills to research and write about an important scientist.

PE this week has been fantastic. Both the Netball and Rugby groups had great sessions with their coaches and in the hall we have been using the large and small apparatus.

We have also been skipping—preparing ourselves.

Ambassadors of the Week

Leighton — who wrote an amazing alien story about the creation of planets.

Frankie — for showing super resilience with fractions and having a breakthrough.

Information for Families

Juniper Hall - I will look to reorganise the trip for later this year.

Skipping Event—21/3/18
