This Week...

The highlight of this week has been the trip to Jubilee High School. Starting the day early we were lucky to arrive, dry, at Jubilee. Ushered into a science room we were introduced to our aim for the day—make and sell ice cream.

First, we had to design a company name and logo. We then had to build and decorate a small cart that would display our products. After a short break we returned to make ice cream. We mixed milk, sugar and vanilla flavouring in a bag. We put this bag inside another bag that contained ice and salt and then shook the bag to break the ice and make ice cream. Finally we tasted. Yum!

After lunch, we learned how advertisers try to persuade us and tried to write our own speech or script to convince people to buy our ice cream. Finally, we moved to a hall and were set the task to sell our products to children from Darley Dene School. We had a great day. It was very interesting and exciting.

In Computing this week we learned about AR—Augmented Reality, We made pictures come alive! We also investigated QR codes and used a them to take part in a quiz.

Ambassadors of the Week

Dexter—who shared amazingly persuasive and powerful vocabulary and hyperbole.

Jess T— who made some delicious ice cream
