This Week...

In Maths this week we have been reminded of place value as we have multiplied and divided numbers by 10, 100 and 1000. We have also learned a way of multiplying a number by a multiple of 10, 100 and 1000.

We read a new book this week—The Mysterious Traveller. This continued the theme of looking at stories set in faraway places. We concentrated on similes and metaphors as a way to help the reader 'picture' the setting.

In Geography this week we reviewed our understanding of how 'fold' mountains are formed and then learned about the fascinating story of Mallory and Irving. We made front page newspapers about the story.

We visited Jubilee for our second dance workshop. The theme is Harry Potter and this week we put together our own small dance and added them into a larger group composition. Next time we add lights!

We also sewed as part of DT. Learning about joining fabrics and using different stitches we created decorated bags.

Ambassadors of the Week

Thomas— who could write a simile and change it into a metaphor

Adam & Beth—for showing great sewing skills during DT.
