This Week....

In English this week we have started to learn about Shakespeare. We started by researching a little about the 'bard' himself. We have read Romeo And Juliet and watched an animated version. We have studied the vocabulary and language. We have translated Shakespeare quotes into modern language and vice versa.

During Maths we have continued to learn about fractions. We have now worked with mixed numbers and improper fractions. A lot of our focus has been on solving word problems and showing our workings.

In Geography, we have continued to analyse data. This week we looked at British imports and exports. Who does Britain trade with and what goods do we trade? We drew bar charts and pie charts to represent this information

In RE we have learned about the Qu'ran. We have learned about the respect which Muslims give to their holy book and the ways in which it affects the life of a Muslim.

In Art we continued look at Ancient Egyptian art. This week we have used the grid method, like the Egyptians, to enlarge our small sketches.

Ambassadors of the Week

Zain — for sharing an approach to solving maths problems with his group.

Ellis — for getting the ball rolling when translating Shakespeare quotes to modern English
