

Learning Highlights

This week has been really tough for the children—they have had their first experience of SATs papers. I was really impressed with their mature approach to the tests and they all tried really hard and even managed to smile! The results from these will be used to identify key areas for learning as well as giving us a baseline for future assessments.

A really busy week of elections has seen the year 6 children making speeches to their houses in the hope of being elected house captains, presentations to the class for school council elections and of course the official appointment of our new Head Boys and Girls.

Huge congratulations to:

Our new house captains:
